Sister City Background

Makinohara is home to approximately 46,000 residents and is located on the southeastern coast of Japan within the Shizuoka Prefecture. Green tea production, fishing and auto parts manufacturing for Suzuki are the primary drivers of Makinohara's economy, and the city is also headquarters to Fuji Dream Airlines. The modern city was established in 2005 as a result of a merger between the towns of Haibara and Sagara. Kelso's original Sister City relationship was established with Sagara by resolution in 1994.
